

Nunavik Regional Board of Health and Social Services
CP 900
Kuuujuaq, (Québec)
J0M 1C0

Are there any health risks in your work environment?

We can support and assist Nunavik's employers and workers. Appointed by the CNESST, our occupational health team provides specialized support services to help you meet your obligations with regard to the prevention of occupational injuries such as workplace illnesses and accidents.

How can these services help?

They can:

- Identify and assess health risks in your work environment. e.g.:
 - hazardous materials and gases, psychosocial hazards, poor indoor air quality and more.
- Promote compliance with your legal requirements in terms of occupational health by providing:
 - recommendations regarding the introduction of specific prevention measures to address the risks identified in your work environment;
 - information and tools adapted to Nunavik businesses and organizations.
- Set up a first aid and relief organization that complies with the regulations in force.
- Support professionals following up pregnancies (physicians, specialized nurse practitioners and midwives) in identifying and assessing risks related to pregnancy and breast-feeding in the workplace by providing them with preventive recommendations.

How much will it cost?

Our services are paid for by employer contributions to the CNESST. There are no additional costs.

Ready to contribute to a safer work environment?

healthatwork17@ssss.gouv.qc.ca

819-964-2222 ext. 294

For more information, see the following Web sites:

Occupational Health Public Health Network (french website with some bilingual documents)

Occupational Health | Nunavik Regional Board of Health and Social Services (trilingual)

Home | Commission des normes de l'équité de la santé et de la sécurité du travail - CNESST
(partially bilingual)

August 2026